NetEnt secures US deal with Tipico

A new agreement will see NetEnt games launched with Tipico, as they make a move into the regulated market in New Jersey.

As Tipico, the Germany-based global sportsbook operator, makes a move into the regulated market in New Jersey, NetEnt and Tipico has entered an agreement that will see NetEnt games launched on day one. A selection NetEnt's acclaimed portfolio of video slots and table games, like Divine Fortune will be available to Tipico players. As part of the deal Tipico can also enjoy NetEnt's marketing tools, like Free Spins, to help grow their business.

"We are happy that Tipico has chosen NetEnt to be one of their first content providers as they begin their US journey. I'm looking forward to having our games in front of players and working with Tipico to grow their business in the US," says Brian Kraft, Vice President Commercial of NetEnt Americas LLC.

"We are excited to begin our partnership with NetEnt as we kick-off our expansion into the U.S." said Adrian Vella, Managing Director, U.S. Business, Tipico. "With a proven track record in the regulated New Jersey market and their well-known catalog of branded games, we're confident that our customers will love NetEnt's offering."

NetEnt will continue to roll out more games with Tipico over the second half of 2020.
